PDI World Group Expands into Australia

Minneapolis, MN, March 26, 2007 – PDI World Group, the rapidly growing architectural firm founded last year by noted Minneapolis architect Steve Huh, has begun work on a 4,200 acre mixed use project in Hervey Bay, Queensland, Australia. This very large oceanfront resort development will include residential units, a golf course, hotel, a theme park, other entertainment venues and retail shops.

Hervey Bay is a sub-tropical resort community of 54,000, ideally situated in a sheltered cove on the South Pacific near the Great Barrier Reef. Located about 175 miles north of Brisbane, it is one of the fastest growing cities in Australia.

In addition to Hervey Bay, PDI's international presence continues to expand with other projects currently underway in Korea, Dubai, Vietnam, and India.
